

Q: What do the River Walk's ducks, herons and pigeons have in common?

A: Their poop ends up in the San Antonio River, and too much poop leads to water quality problems.

The River Walk Watershed Alliance (RWWA) has been formed to work with River Walk Watershed merchants, residents and visitors to identify and eliminate human activities that contribute to the overpopulation of wildlife in the River Walk Watershed area.

For more information, or to contact an RWWA member, please go to www.rwwa.us.

RWWA
RIVER WALK WATERSHED ALLIANCE

PREPARED IN COOPERATION WITH THE TEXAS COMMISSION ON ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY AND THE U.S. ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY
The preparation of this material was financed through grants from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency through the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality.